

TWILIGHT IN GRAY

A Railroad Photographer's Album

Volume I

Lowell Amrine

Five miles out of San Francisco, one of SP's three GP40P-2s hustles an evening rush hour commuter at Bayshore, 1985.

A seven unit westbound climbs Beaumont Pass at West Palm Springs past a work extra in the hole.

An SP Police Car placed back among the loaded autoracks.

A lone SD40R shoves on the second of two hacks, 1983.

With the helper team painted to match, the World's Fair Daylight drops eastbound off the Tehachapi Mountains, 1984.

The World's Fair Daylight awaits departure time from San Francisco.

A heavy westbound waits at the top of San Timoteo Canyon while the mid-train help is removed back at Beaumont.

With four of a kind in the number boards, a westbound B36-7 and two SDs pass light eastbound help at Apex.

No longer a crew change point, a lone B30-7 leads three SDs west through Indio.

Chemicals, lumber, and paper descend the Palmdale Cutoff and enter West Colton behind mixed SDs, 1982.

A lone SD45 shoves on the caboose of an eastbound climbing Tehachapi at Woodford, 1981.
